

Here is the Farm Bureau's new Dairy Advisory Committee. Seated (l. to r.) are Merrell Lilley, Marshall County; Chairman Lyle L. Austin, Mason County; and Paul Nay, Harrison County. Standing are M. L. Legg, Greenbrier County and Selman Wells, Wood County. Abner Hockensmith of Jefferson County was not present for the picture. They plan to meet again in November to continue work on the Special Milk program, and to take up other dairy problems.

WEST VIRGINIA FARM NEWS

I AM THE FARMER

"I am the provider for all mankind. Upon me every human being constantly depends. A world itself is built upon my toil, my products, my honesty. Because of my industry, America, my country, leads the world; her property is maintained by me; her great commerce is the work of my good hands; her balance of trade springs from furrow of my farm. My reaper brings food for today; my plows hold promises for tomorrow. In war I am absolute; in peace I am indispensable -- my country's surest defense and constant reliance. I am the very soil of America, the hope of the race, the balance wheel of civilization. When I prosper, men are happy; when I fall, all the world suffers. I live with nature, walk in green fields under the golden sunlight, out in the great alone, where brain and brawn and toil supply mankind's primary needs; and I try to do my humble part to carry out the great plan of life. Even the birds are my companions; they greet me with a

Wanda J. Wymer, Hillsboro High School honors student in biology, discusses ecology with Joseph Allamong, her instructor, during morning class session of West Virginia University's special ten-week study and work program the past summer for selected students from state high schools. This year's 23 participants spend rewarding afternoons in faculty supervised research in Medical Center, Agricultural Sciences or Main Campus laboratories. Like WVU summer school, the program ended August 20. Wanda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wymer, of Route 1, Hillsboro.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Kinnison announce the birth of a son, Clark Hill, weighing eight pounds, at Greenbrier Valley Hospital, December 19, 1975. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hill, Hillsboro, and the paternal grandparents are the late H. Guy Kinnison and grandmother, Mrs. Mattie Strobel, Lewisburg.

WHO RECEIVED THE REWARD?

Once upon a time there were four men, who belonged to the same church. Their names were Joe Somebody, George Somebody, Jack Everybody, and Nobody.

Everybody thought he would like to go to Sunday school but he figured Somebody wouldn't be friendly with Anybody so Nobody went.

Everybody was asked to teach a Sunday school class, but thought surely Anybody would want to be a teacher, and at least Somebody would do it but Nobody finished up teaching the class.

Whenever there is a job to be done in church, Everybody agrees with Anybody that Nobody should do it, but Nobody does it.

Epitaph—These four men and went to be with the Lord and know who got the reward? Nobody! (Lake Wirc Bull)

9

(l. to r.)
County;
County;
n County
er to con-problems.

ARM NEWS

Army Major Harlen W. Kinnison (right) receives the Bronze Star Medal during ceremonies at Fort Riley, Kansas, June 12. He is executive officer of the 1st Battalion of the 24th Infantry Division's 70th Armor, at Fort Riley. The award was given for meritorious service while serving in the Advisory Team 17 advising a Vietnamese unit in Vietnam. Major Kinnison, a graduate of Hillsboro High School and West Virginia University, is the son of Mrs. Mattie Strobel, of Hillsboro and Florence, Ariz.

Wanda J. Wymer, Hillsboro High School honors student in biology, discusses ecology with Joseph Allamong, her instructor, during morning class session of West Virginia University's special ten-week study and work program the past summer for selected students from state high schools. This year's 23 participants spend rewarding afternoons in faculty supervised research in Medical Center, Agricultural Sciences or Main Campus laboratories. Like WVU summer school, the program ended August 20. Wanda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wymer, of Route 1, Hillsboro.

WHO RECEIVED THE REWARD?

Once upon a time there were four men, who belonged to the same church. Their names were Joe Somebody, George Anybody, Jack Everybody, and Sam Nobody.

Everybody thought he would like to go to Sunday school but he figured Somebody wouldn't be friendly with Anybody so Nobody went.

Everybody was asked to teach a Sunday school class, but he thought surely Anybody would want to be a teacher, and at least Somebody would do it, but Nobody finished up teaching the class.

Whenever there is a job to be done in church, Everybody agrees with Anybody that Somebody should do it, but Nobody does it.

Epitaph—These four men died and went to be with the Lord. Know who got the reward?— Nobody! (Lake Wire Bulletin)

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Kinnison announce the birth of a son, Clark Hill, weighing eight pounds, at Greenbrier Valley Hospital, December 19, 1975. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hill, Hillsboro, and the paternal grandparents are the late H. Guy Kinnison and grandmother, Mrs. Mattie Strobel, Lewisburg.

being prontry, great trade ed for absofense ope of , men
ature, great imary
t plan with a vening earth

MALLOW - ROSE

Afternoon, December 30, 1972, in First Church at Marlinton, Miss daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James sboro, became the bride of John
, son of Dr. and Mrs. John M.
Marlinton.

Raynard Crawford performed the ceremony before the altar, decorated with red pompons, pine tips, and candelabra.

Sections of wedding music were Frances Eskridge, organist.

Given by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of organza and with touches of pink at the embroidery. The gown featured a high neckline, and an attached chapel train.
The train was trimmed with seed pearls and bridal illuminated mantilla veil extended the train. The bride carried a bouquet of pink pompons and red miniature pink velveteen streamers and Miss Caroline Rose, sister wore a floor-length gown of white standing collar, empire sleeves. Her colonial bouquet was of holly with white velvet bows. The bridesmaids were Miss Frank, and Miss Anne Mallory. Their dresses were of white the maid of honor. Their bouquets were of white pompons and holly streamers and bows.

John Rose, brother of the bride, of Charleston, cousin

John Rose wore a winter white dress with carnations and holly. The bridesmaids wore a dress of champagne color with pale yellow roses.

The ceremony was held in the Fellowship Hall with the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Sue Keller, Mrs.
Mrs. Gerry Puffenbarger.
John Rose, aunt of the bride, attended.

The couple will trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, and returned to Morgantown,
West Virginia.

MALLOW - ROSE

Saturday afternoon, December 30, 1972, in United Methodist Church at Marlinton, Miss Jeanne Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rose, of Hillsboro, became the bride of John Mallow, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John M. Mallow, Sr., of Marlinton.

Reverend Maynard Crawford performed the wedding ceremony before the altar, decorated with an arrangement of red pompons, pine tips, and holly, flanked with candelabra.

Appropriate selections of wedding music were played by Mrs. Frances Eskridge, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length A-line gown of organza and tulle with lace with touches of pink at the hem. The gown featured a high neckline, long sleeves, and an attached chapel train. Her headpiece of seed pearls and bridal veil—a lace-trimmed mantilla veil extended the full length of the train. The bride carried a large bouquet of pink pompons and red mini-carnations with pink velveteen streamers and of honor was Miss Caroline Rose, sister of the bride. She wore a floor-length gown of velvet, featuring standing collar, empire waist and puffed sleeves. Her colonial bouquet consisted of white pompons and holly with white velveteen streamers and bows. The bridesmaids were Debbie Stewart, of Frank, and Miss Anne Malster of the groom. Their dresses were of velvet to match the maid of honor. Their bouquets were of white pompons and holly with velveteen streamers and bows.

James Dunbrack, of Marlinton, served as best man. Ushers were James Rose, brother of the bride, and Robert Miller, of Charleston, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a winter white dress with a corsage of red carnations and holly. The groom's mother wore a dress of champagne and a corsage of pale yellow roses.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the ceremony. Assisting the bride were Ruth Pritchard, Mrs. Sue Keller, Mrs. Mary Forren, and Mrs. Gerry Puffenbarger. Mary Pennybacker, aunt of the bride, attended the guest book.

Following a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, the couple returned to Morgantown, West Virginia. They are both students at West Virginia University.

MALLOW - ROSE

On Saturday afternoon, December 30, 1972, in the United Methodist Church at Marlinton, Miss Lori Jeanne Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Rose, of Hillsboro, became the bride of John Monroe Mallow, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John M. Mallow, Sr., of Marlinton.

The Reverend Maynard Crawford performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar, decorated with an arrangement of red pompons, pine tips, and holly, flanked with candelabra.

Appropriate selections of wedding music were provided by Mrs. Frances Eskridge, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length A-line gown of organza and embroidered lace with touches of pink at the empire waist. The gown featured a high neckline, Victorian sleeves, and an attached chapel train. From a headpiece of seed pearls and bridal illusion, a lace-trimmed mantilla veil extended over the length of the train. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of pink pompons and red miniature carnations with pink velveteen streamers and bows.

Maid of honor was Miss Caroline Rose, sister of the bride. She wore a floor-length gown of red velvet, featuring standing collar, empire waist and puffed sleeves. Her colonial bouquet was of white pompons and holly with white velveteen streamers and bows. The bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Stewart, of Frank, and Miss Anne Mallow, sister of the groom. Their dresses were of green velvet to match the maid of honor. Their colonial bouquets were of white pompons and holly with red velveteen streamers and bows.

Curtis Dunbrack, of Marlinton, served as best man. Ushers were James Rose, brother of the bride, and Robert Miller, of Charleston, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a winter white dress and a corsage of red carnations and holly. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of champagne chiffon and a corsage of pale yellow roses.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Ruth Pritchard, Mrs. Sue Keller, Mrs. Margaret Forren, and Mrs. Gerry Puffenbarger. Mrs. Nancy Pennybacker, aunt of the bride, attended the guest book.

After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, the couple returned to Morgantown, where they are both students at West Virginia University.

MALLOW - ROSE

On Saturday afternoon, December 30, 1972, in the United Methodist Church at Marlinton, Miss Lori Jeanne Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Rose, of Hillsboro, became the bride of John Monroe Mallow, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John M. Mallow, Sr., of Marlinton.

The Reverend Maynard Crawford performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar, decorated with an arrangement of red pompons, pine tips, and holly, flanked with candelabra.

Appropriate selections of wedding music were provided by Mrs. Frances Eskridge, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length A-line gown of organza and embroidered lace with touches of pink at the empire waist. The gown featured a high neckline, Victorian sleeves, and an attached chapel train. From a headpiece of seed pearls and bridal illusion, a lace-trimmed mantilla veil extended over the length of the train. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of pink pompons and red miniature carnations with pink velveteen streamers and bows.

Maid of honor was Miss Caroline Rose, sister of the bride. She wore a floor-length gown of red velvet, featuring standing collar, empire waist and puffed sleeves. Her colonial bouquet was of white pompons and holly with white velveteen streamers and bows. The bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Stewart, of Frank, and Miss Anne Mallow, sister of the groom. Their dresses were of green velvet to match the maid of honor. Their colonial bouquets were of white pompons and holly with red velveteen streamers and bows.

Curtis Dunbrack, of Marlinton, served as best man. Ushers were James Rose, brother of the bride, and Robert Miller, of Charleston, cousin of the groom.

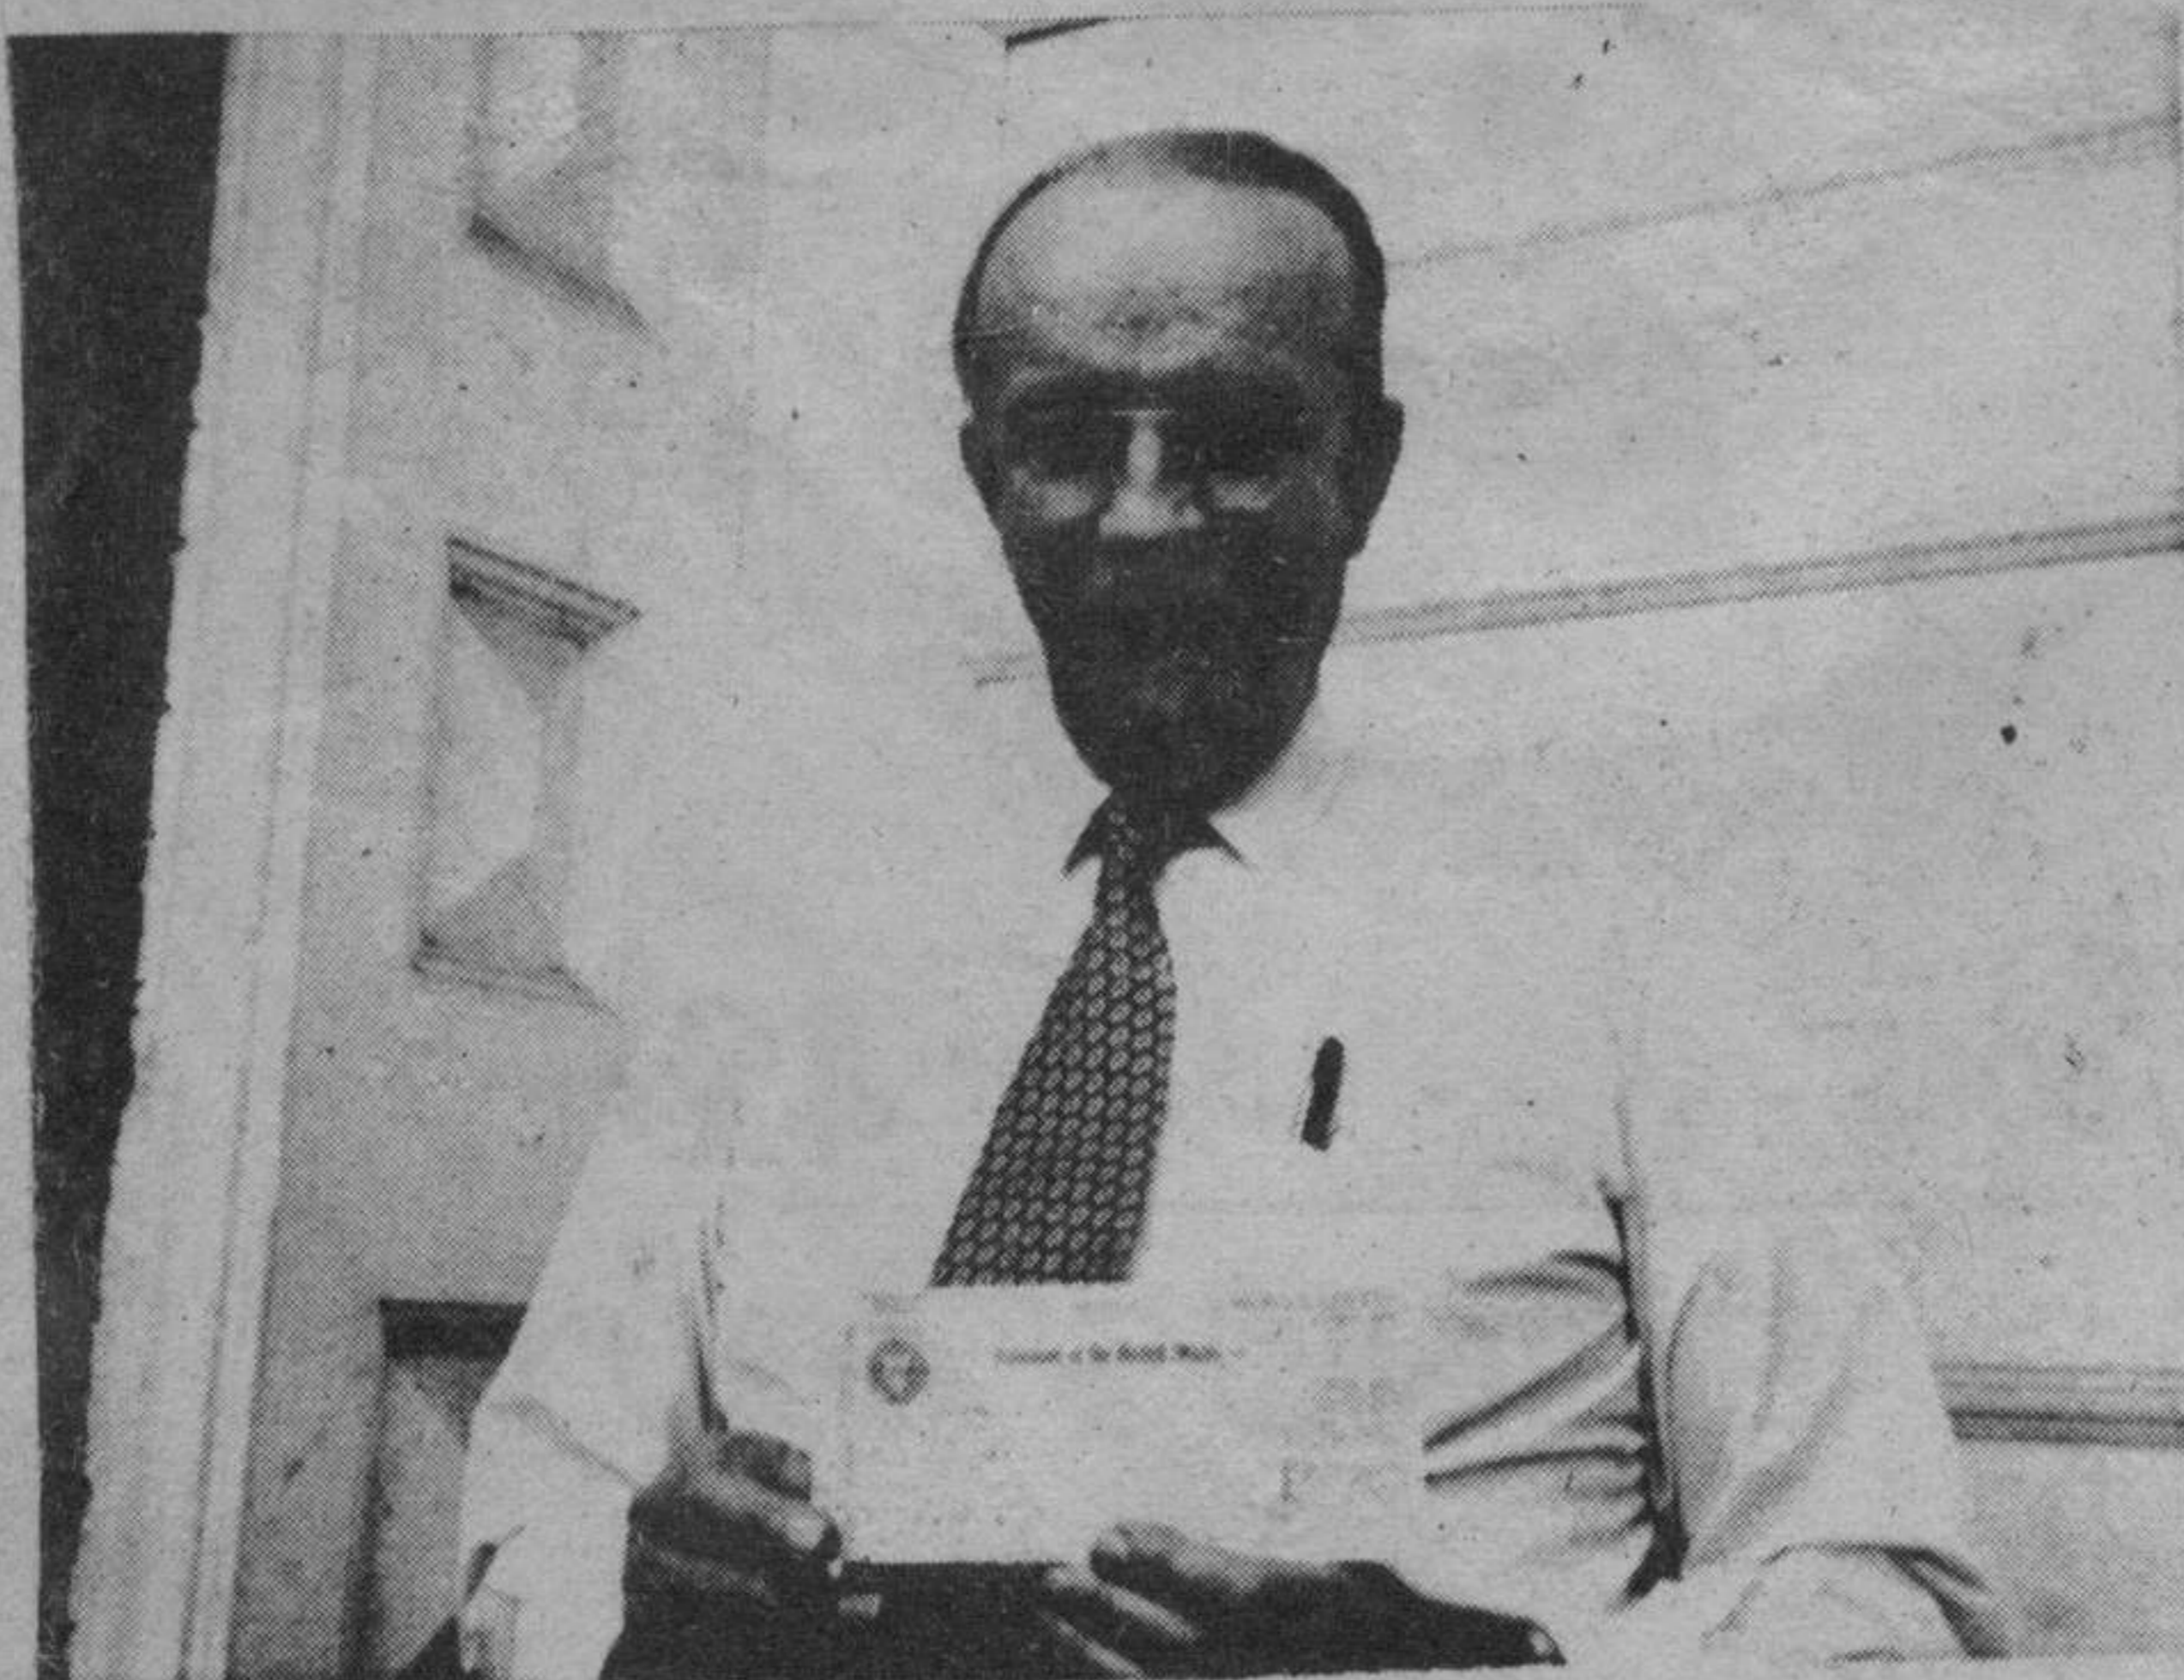

The bride's mother wore a winter white dress and a corsage of red carnations and holly. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of champagne chiffon and a corsage of pale yellow roses.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Ruth Pritchard, Mrs. Sue Keller, Mrs. Margaret Forren, and Mrs. Gerry Puffenbarger. Mrs. Nancy Pennybacker, aunt of the bride, attended the guest book.

After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, the couple returned to Morgantown, where they are both students at West Virginia University.

20

1972

County Clerk Alfred McNeel holds a check for $118,428 from the United States Treasury, the first of the "revenue sharing" money. The entitlement period is for six months but it is presumed this is a year's share. The amount is over twice what was expected. A national newscaster said the Treasury Department was embarrassed over the differences between the estimated amounts and the final figures. Some cities and counties received much less than was expected. The program is supposed to cover a five-year period. The money may be spent only for certain things, which must be planned carefully, advertised in advance, and a published accounting be made.

David Corcoran, Executive of the Pearl Buck Birthplace Foundation, enthusiastically accepts a copy of the book My Mother's House from the First National Bank in Marlinton by Mrs. Beulah Moore and other Life Members, the Foundation received a rare autographed copy touching reminiscences of the author. Copies of this book in stock are interested in becoming Life Members to join now while copies are available.

Marlinton Hospital. Marlinton, W. Va.

Marlinton Hospital before it burned in the late 20's.

LENA TOWNSEN

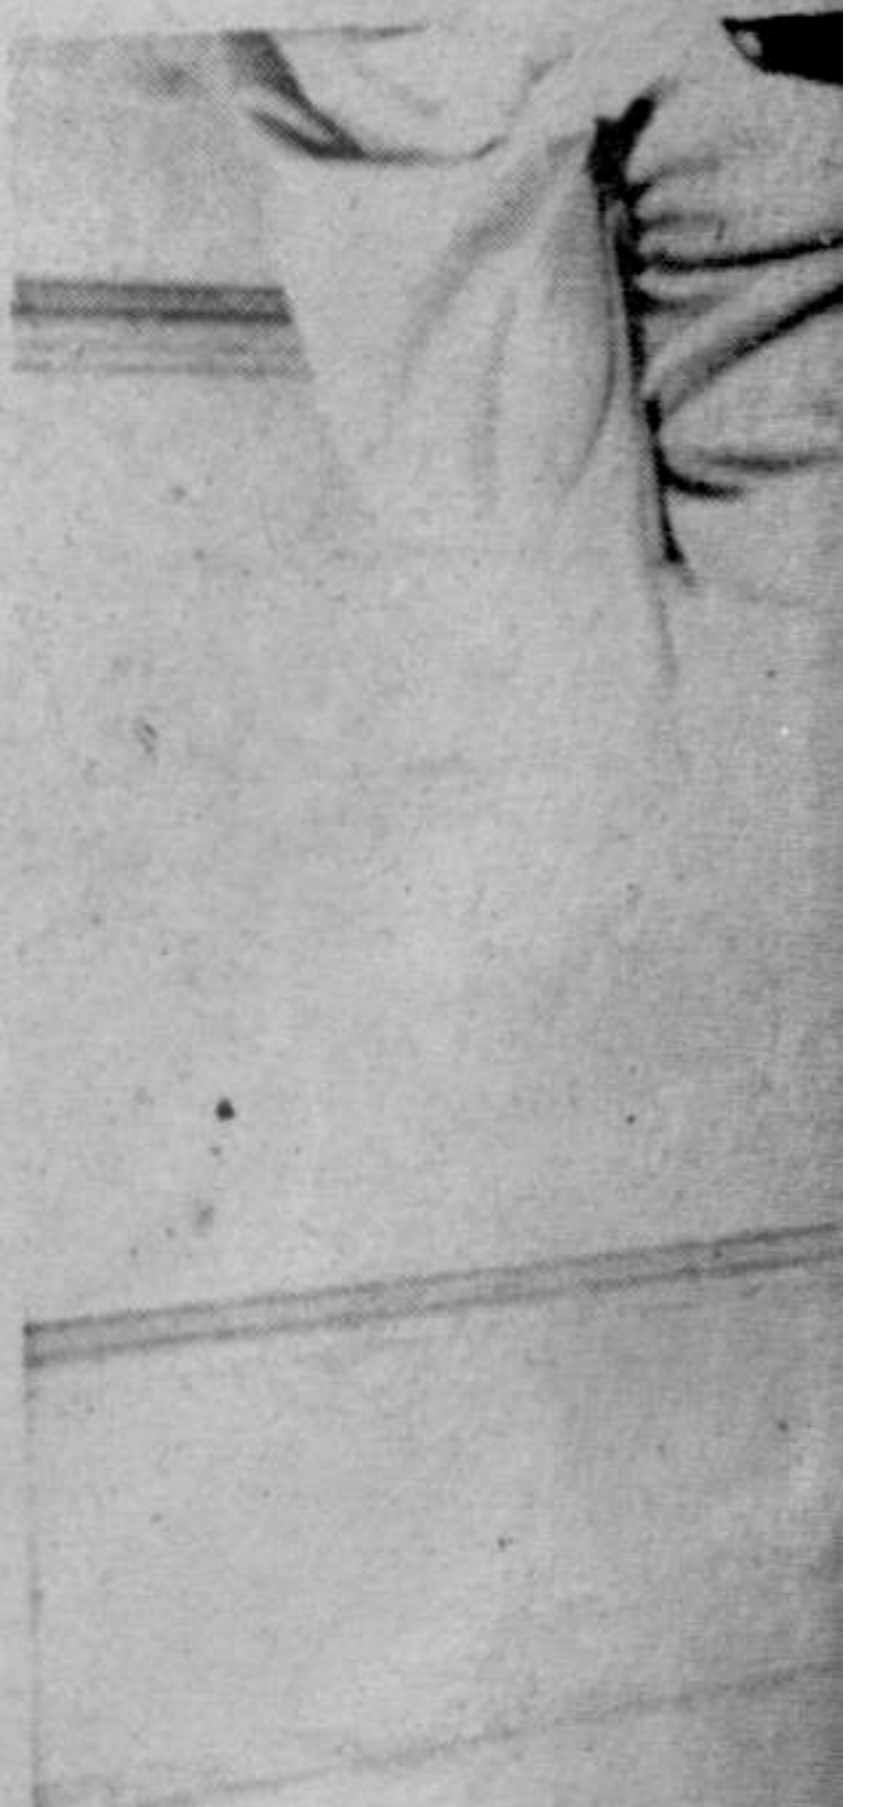

Mrs. Lena Townsend smiles Friday as she reflects on 28 years of teaching, the last day of school for her and teacher in the fourth classroom at Western School, Mason.

Mrs. Townsend has spent her entire teaching career in Mason County, chalking up several years in the Mason school. Her years she taught at Kinross and South Lebanon elementary grades.

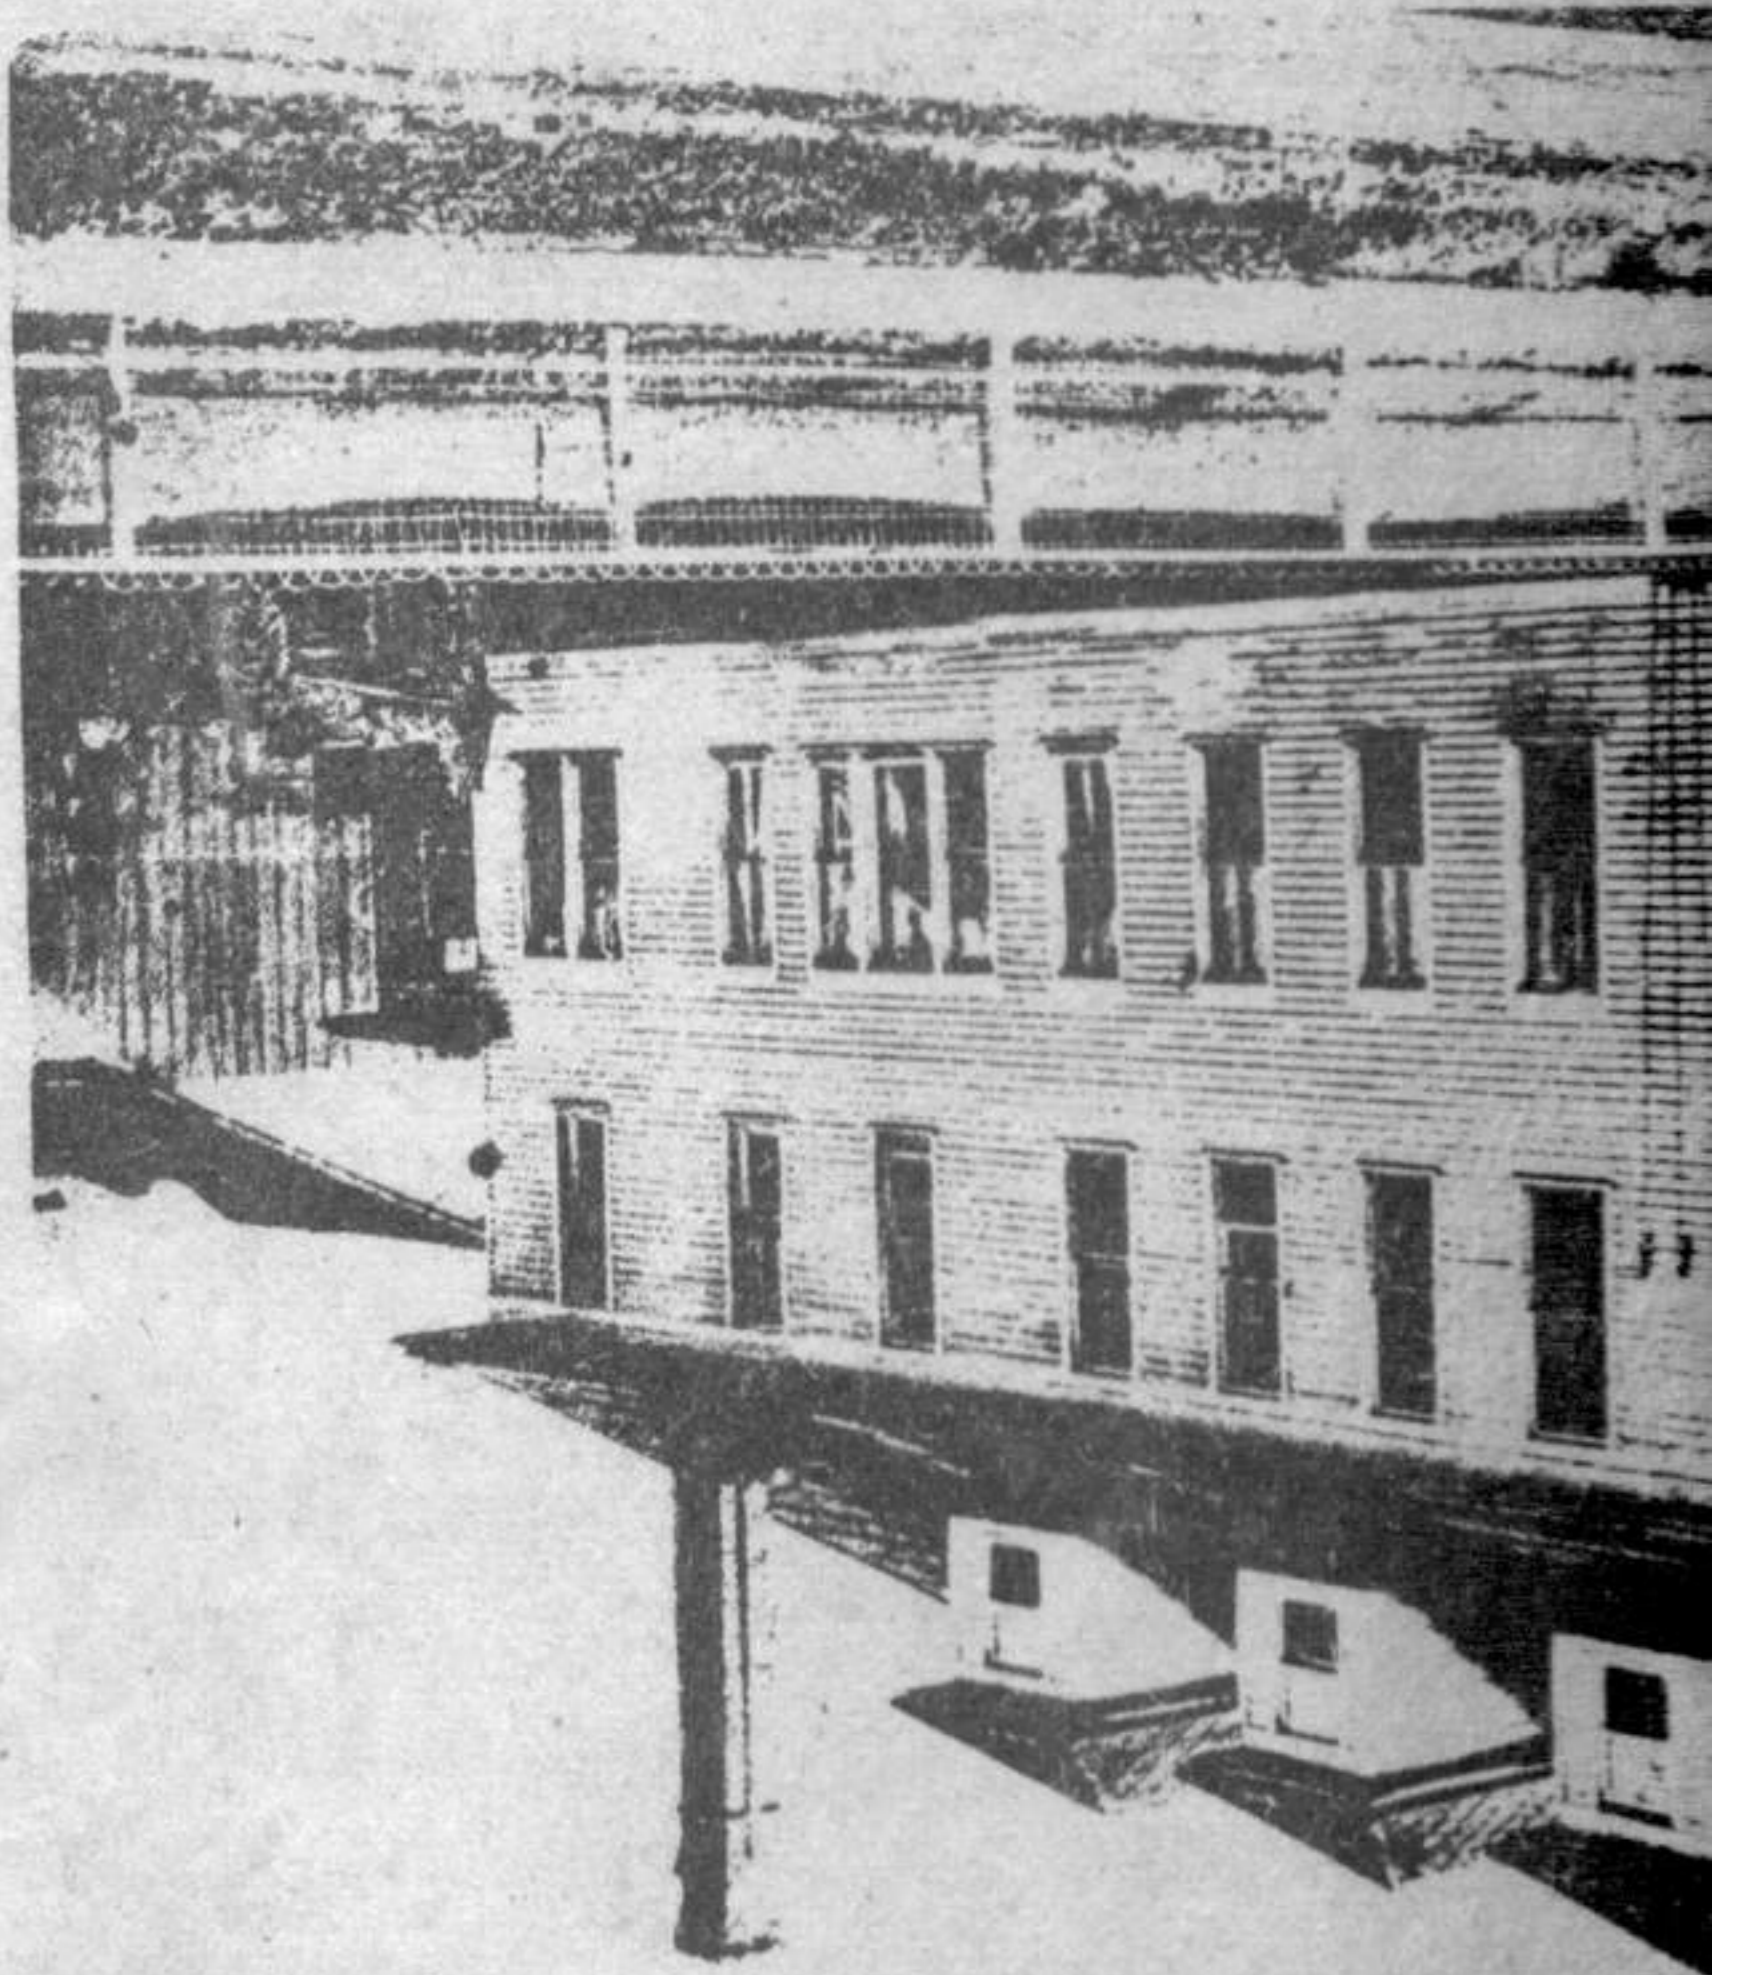

For now she will devote time to reading, sewing flowers, she said. "But Owen (her husband) is sort of think that will be next year, we'll be moving to Florida," she added.

as a check for s Treasury, the money. The en-months but it is
re. The amount
ed. A national department was ces between the all figures. Some supposed to e money may be
, which must be in advance, and e.

1972

it burned in the late 20's.

Marlinton Hospital, Marlinton, W. Va.

For now she will devote more time to reading, sewing and her flowers, she said. "But when Owen (her husband) retires, I sort of think that will be next year, we'll be moving to Florida," she added.

Mrs. Townsend has spent her entire teaching career in Warren County, chalking up seven years in the Mason school. Her earlier years she taught at Kings Mills and South Lebanon elementary grades.

Mrs. Lena Townsend was smiles Friday as she reflected on 28 years of teaching. It was the last day of school for pupils and teacher in the fourth grade classroom at Western Row School, Mason.

LENA TOWNSEND

The couple live at 183 Mt. Vernon Dr. near Kenwood Road. They have three children and 14 grandchildren "that we enjoy very much." Their daughter, Helen Dye, lives in Loveland, son Robert in Mt. Orab and Glenn in Thomasville, Georgia. "I've loved teaching," said Mrs. Townsend, "it's all I've ever done. I feel I've spent my whole life at it. I'll miss school and the children, but it will be nice staying home."

Mrs. Townsend believes she made a lot of friends and "I've had good communications with the children, they seemed to love me and I loved them. That's what I go by."

Mrs. Townsend is a member of the Ohio Education Association, and was named "Outstanding Elementary Teacher at Western Row School" in 1972.

Mrs. Townsend will be remembered as Lena Stamper, formerly of Hillsboro. She attended Concord State Teachers' College and did her first teaching in Pocahontas County schools. After moving to Ohio she earned her B.S. degree from Miami University.

David Corcoran, Executive Director of the Pearl Buck Birthplace Foundation, Inc., (right) enthusiastically accepts a $1,000 donation from the First National Bank in Marlinton, represented by Mrs. Beulah Moore and William McCarty. As the other Life Members, the First National Bank received a rare autographed copy of Miss Buck's touching reminiscences of the Stulting home entitled My Mother's House. There are still some copies of this book in stock and those people interested in becoming Life Members are invited to join now while copies are still available.

1972

